11:30 M&A TRENDS IN MATURE BASINS

Like all good things, optimum production doesn't last forever. Basins mature, production declines and economic models need to recalibrate accordingly. Basins across the world are beginning to mature and as production levels tail off and approach economic limits, challenges such as abandonment and decommissioning obligations become an important consideration for both buyers and sellers. M&A activity in mature basins differs from traditional E&P activity as counterparties seek to address the particular challenges and capitalise on the peculiar opportunities the sector has to offer. We discuss the M&A trends in this important sector of the market.
